BEITEN BURKHARDT Further Strengthens Its Dusseldorf Office with a Labour Law Expert

Munich, 13 June 2016 – The international commercial law firm BEITEN BURKHARDT has hired Henrik Lühge (36), thus taking an experienced labour law specialist on board: As of now Salary Partner Henrik Lühge reinforces the Labour & Employment practice group around the Dusseldorf Partner Christian Freiherr von Buddenbrock.

Prior to joining BEITEN BURKHARDT, Henrik Lühge has worked with the law firm Baker & McKenzie as the sole labour law specialist at their Dusseldorf office, but he was also part of the team around Partner Dr. Burkard Göpfert at the Munich office of Baker, which focussed its activities on the nationwide restructuring business. Apart from advising on all aspects of individual and collective labour law, Henrik Lühge focusses on the implementation of business change processes and on related corporate law issues. This comprises advice on restructurings, but also reorganisations, structural changes, M&A activities and any operational change processes.

Henrik Lühge started his lawyer's career in 2008 in the labour law practice of Linklaters LLP in Frankfurt. He studied law at the Universities of Bayreuth and Göttingen and qualified as labour law specialist in 2012. In addition, he is lecturer for labour law and the rules of civil procedure at the Hochschule Fresenius (Private University of Applied Sciences) in Cologne.

"Having won over Mr Lühge, we are now able to further extend the labour law practice at our Dusseldorf office and can, thus, continue to fully attend to our clients' demands without any restrictions" commented Freiherr von Buddenbrock, head of the labour & employment law practice at the Dusseldorf office.

"BEITEN BURKHARDT is one of the market leaders in labour and employment law. I am extraordinarily pleased and looking forward to contributing to the law firm's further success, continuously expanding the business of the Dusseldorf office", said Henrik Lühge.
